FOR EVERYONE

14 November

European School Education Platform & eTwinning: Learn, teach and grow together

With Amy Burnett, Mathilde Grosjean and Brenda Maher, Directorate General for Education and Culture

Have you ever heard of ESEP, the European School Education Platform? And do you know about eTwinning, a safe online space for teachers and pupils to work together with schools across Europe? With eTwinning you also enter a school community to discuss in online groups and follow peer learning and professional development activities.

In this session, we will first guide you through the two online tools. After you have explored the platform with your own devices, you will be invited to provide your feedback and discuss how it could be further improved. You will also have the occasion to hear more about Jean Monnet Actions.

15 November

You think you know a lot about the European Union? Hold my beer! Join us for this interactive and stimulating experience in which you would work in a team and learn new things in a fun way. Europa Quest is a quiz-based activity and it will help you teach by combining education and entertainment. Are you ready?!

15 November

Jean Monnet, l'aventurier de l'Europe (FR with EN Subtitles)

With Jean Marc Lieberherr

Everyone knows Jean Monnet as one of the founding fathers of the European Union, but did you know his life was a series of incredible adventures that spanned the entire twentieth century? Through his visionary actions and ideas, Jean Monnet left an indelible mark on history, and not just by helping to create the European Union... will help us reflect on how to teach the EU and its history in a more relatable way to children all ages.

FOR PRIMARY SCHOOLS

14 November
11:30-12:20

Their Voices, Our Europe: Involving children in decision-making

With Marta Kuljon and Jane Banham, Directorate General for Justice

1 in 5 EU citizens are children. How much are they involved in discussing matters that concern them? Not enough according to research and the children themselves. That is what the EU Children's Participation Platform aims to change. We need your help to create pathways for younger children to learn about their rights, express their opinions and help influence policymaking.

14 November
14:00-15:30

Teaching the sustainability to youngest audiences

With Monica Pisani, Jeremy Herry and Jorden Kent, Directorate General for Climate Action, Veronika Kosova-Hollinska and Laura Outzen, Directorate General for Energy and Mariana Furtado, Directorate General for Environment

Understanding the European Green Deal is crucial for our future, as it addresses the pressing environmental challenges we face today. In this engaging and interactive session, we will explore effective strategies for introducing the Green Deal to primary school children.

FOR SECONDARY SCHOOLS

14 November
11:30-12:20

Nurturing future translators – Exploring a career in translation and or interpreting

With Valerie Asselberghs and Inkaliisa Vihonen-Peuranen, Directorate General for Translation

Welcome back! Last year, we explored the future of translation jobs and addressed some myths. DGT has since created two new resources based on your feedback: a guide for teachers and one for students, aimed at inspiring and informing about translation careers.

We'd love your input on these resources. How can we improve them? How do you see them being used? Your feedback will help us enhance our outreach and attract more translators. Let's discuss and make this initiative a success!

14 November
14:00-15:30

Bring real-life data to your class with Eurostat's database

With Romina Brondino and Nina Jere, EUROSTAT

In this workshop, you will learn how to find data on Eurostat's website, and how to use Eurostat's online database in your classroom. The session will include a combination of presentation, practical exercises and group discussion.
